

FDA member benefits

FDA Learn provides over 280 courses and sessions every year, available to members as soon as they join. These sessions are aimed specifically at the personal and professional development of civil servants and supporting members to progress their careers.

As a member, you will regularly receive the full programme of events, which are highly valued by employers in the civil service UK wide. All courses are free to members (to access some of these courses privately it is estimated that it would cost between £100-£200 per course). So, this is a clear and measurable benefit to being an FDA member.
